Funspot an "Asia-Global" company launches a Mobile Social Poker Game - FUNCARDS.ASIA on iOS and Android.

Singapore, 22nd January, 2013 – We are all used to playing games developed and launched in the US which eventually spills over to us in SE Asia. For the first time, a local Asian company Funspot is taking on the global mobile social gaming companies. Yes, we are launching Funcards Asia - a synchronous, real-time, multi-platform mobile social poker game available for iOS and Android.

The app is made in Asia for Asians. We are starting with the focus on Singapore & Malaysia driving the passionate poker players in these two countries to compete with each other.

We will add other corridors soon. Simple game of poker where you can challenge your friend irrespective of what phone they use (android or iOS) and play. You can also be matched automatically with other players to discover new friends!

Funcards Asia is a free-to-play game that gives out free chips daily to get players to play for longer times than other apps. This is a pure entertainment app and is not intended for real-money gambling.

Funcards Asia is a real time simulation card game built on a powerful analytical engine. We have other popular card games like Big2, HK Poker etc.

We would love to hear your views about our game and would greatly appreciate if you can cover this in your blog & like us on facebook if you find this relevant and interesting. Look forward to your feedback.
